To State legislation and authorities we look for the good order of society, the securi-ty of life and properly, the protection of our homes, and all that is nearest and dearest to us, in the relations, duties and actions of life. It is dangerous and demoralizing to show con-tempt for State authorities and law. It under-mines alike the foundations of State and Na-tional Government, by breaking up the social system. It home laws are not respected, the more general authority will not be regarded. —[Gov. Seymour's Message.

Perhaps the whole theory of the duties of a State, and what is embraced in the technical words State Rights, was never so truly, and yet so fully, expressed, as in the above extract from the message of Governor Seymonr Lo our interest in the restoration of the Union of the States, we have lost sight of the grave importance of that Government which protects us in the most immediate, necessary and important relations of life. The Governor and Legislature of a State have all of the immediate interests of the people in their bands They are the guardians of their liberty, their property and their homes. All the crimes, ex cept those few expressed in the Federal Co: stitution, against the nation-such as coining counterfeiting the national currency, treason to the Union, and the like-are crimes not against the confederated nation of the Union but the State. All our rights to property personal security, and the like, derive their protection from the State.

At the present moment our Legislature have all of these grave interests in their hands. It is at such a crisis, too, as absolutely demands that they should act with the extremest circumspection in protecting, by every means is their power, the interests committed to their hands. It is wrong in a private individual to the order. show contempt for State authorities and law: in those to whom the State interests are es pecially committed, it becomes a crime. If they neglect any laws necessary for the farther security of persons and property they are recreant to the solemn obligations they have taken, and false to the interests entrasted to that to them is committed, not the national affairs particularly, save in the great weight a State may have in influencing the Federal Government, but the peculiar protection of the people of the State in their immediate local interests. It they are fully impressed with this duty their course of action will be simple

Their first inquiry is, What interests now in this terrible crisis require immediate attention, and how far is it in their power as representatives in the councils of the State to

Your State laws are already ample for re-dies of offenses against the property of the citizen as the same have been ordinarily comout I suggest to you the proper other and more stringent laws against the in-famous practice of Abolition soldiers in this particular (i.e. stealing Legrees, &c.,) and is do this effectually there should be a solemn reallimation of the great truth, that in a free Governments the military is and mu t b subject to the civil authority, and by prope legislation give it a practical accasing by pro-viding for its maintenance at all lazards.

No member has a right to neglect this sac red duty. It is a case to meet which all law is is the peculiar duty of the State Legislature. So far as they fail in this, no matter under are chosen for and are worthy of condemna

If the present laws are inefficient for the security of that class of property, they should be made more stringent and guarded in every way that would give them practical effect.

If any member neglects or refuses to do this to sustain it, he is false to his duty to the State, Such considerations should have no influence whatever. The people do not elect members to the State Legislature either to sustain or oppose a Federal executive, but to make such laws as are necessar, the discharge of those duties uphold him. they are bound to do it; as far as it opposes him they are equally bound. It has been cus tomary, and is proper, to approve or condemn the principles upon which an Administration is conducted, but this is optional with the Legislature. To make necessary laws is obligatory. They are chosen for no other pur-

.We hope to have no shirking or dodging upon this in the Kentucky Legislature. We want those elected to remember what they were chosen for, and to soffer nothing to make them swerve from the path of duty. What is suggested by Governor Robinson is a clear duty, and one to which the people will hold the members bound.

We hope the loyal men of Kentucky, who are induced to uphold the present Administration merely because it is the party in power, and believe that it aims at the restoration of the Union, will read the following ex tract from the Congressional Globe, of the 8th of this month. Stevens is the chairman of the most important committee in the House—that It is what we had to expect and lament. The Ways and Means-and the Republican leader in that body. It will be seen that he explicitly acknowledges that the Union is broken up in so many words. Are the loyal people ready to go thus far? if so, let them sustain the Administration and Mr. Stevens, and we will guarantee that, in less than six months, the Southern Confederacy is acknowledged inde-

"Mr. Stevens-I propose to levy and collect taxes as a war measure, just as all nations levy and collect them on all the territory they conquer. I would not only do this as a war conquer. I would not only do this as a war measure, but, if neer-ssay, take every inch of territory of every disloyal mar, and his real and personal estate, and hell them for the ben-cit of the nation and carrying on the war. We are to treat them as provinces until we conquer them. It is absurd to say a man in arms is entitled to the same constitutional provisions as a loyal man, when he does not obey the lawe, and repudates their binding obligations."

The opposition to the writ of habeas orpue, and the general aim of the Republican party to destroy the lines aividing Federal from State authority, does not embrace all their hostility to civil liberty. Upon all other subjects they are as narrow minded and bigoted, and daily give evidence of principles that seem to savor of the days when Isabella exp lled the Jews from Spain, and King John tortured the same race to force them to pay money into the public treasury. It will be remembered that General Grant recently issued an order expelling all of this active business class of people from his lines, without exception or qualification. The publie was startled with such an extraordinary proceeding. It seemed impossible that any one brought up in a free country, like ours, could ever possibly be guilty of such a violent and summary proceeding. Many of these had been residents for fifteen or twenty years within the territory included in his lines. They were loyal, opulent and valuable citiens. They were entitled to every protection the Government could give. This being the condition of affairs, Mr. Pendleton introduced a resolution in the Lower House condemning

Upon the vote it stood-yeas 56, nays 53; all of the Republicans voting against the condennation. That citizens may know who thes men are who would make religious belief a test, we here publish the list from the Con gressional Globe:

SOMETHING WORTH NOTICE.-We observe in the Journal of yesterday an advertisement of Quartermaster Jenkins, dated January the 14th, for bids for 4,500 cavalry horses. Scaled proposals are to be received up to January the 20th, at 12 o'clock M. While we do not especially made, and the making of those laws impuga the good faith of Quartermaster Jenkins, who is said to be a good officer, we would call his attention to several facts in the what pretext, so far do they fail in what they case which have an ugly appearance, and will be very apt to be misconstrued.

In the first place, the advertisement is in always been famous for horses; while it is in a citizen of Connellsville, Fayette county, two papers in Indians. We take it that for any practical effect the advertisement allows so short a time as to be really useless. A dealer who went tuto it would have no time to know whether he could fulfill his contract or not. We do not say it to censure Capt. Jenkins of to insinuate a censure, but we advise him that the general verdict of those with whom he is not acquainted will be that the whole affair was cut and dried; that the parties who are to obtain the contract were already known be tore any advertisement was made, and that it Commander at Columbus, from June 16 to is a mere form, purposely made short to avoid which demand the attention of the public. One gives us an inside view of the intense faction created in the army by the President's recent extraordinary proclamation. views there given are strong and tersely put, and have a soldierly directness about them somewhat different from the oily way in which the radical politicians put it.

The second letter is from Nashville, and is upon a subject to which we have before directed attention—the remissness of the Gov- prisoners were a good many officers who were ernment, which has millions to waste on frecing negroes, but no pay for the soldiers.

We thank our correspondents and hope to ear from them again.

"Mr. Dunlap—Did the Union?"

In this quasi state thing.

The Republicans cannot plead ignorance upon this subject. A few years ago they had a majority of both branches of the Legislature. The direct proposition was made to sion take them cut of the Union?

"Mr. Stevens—The ordinance of Secession, backed by armed power, did take them out, and as far as that operated, did take them out of the Union.

(For the Louisville Democrat.)

The Political Situation. Messrs. Editors: Ten thousand writers daily ouzzle their brains in order to keep the public well advised as to "the situation;" every flush of electric lightning from the East or from the doing; but as we are not entirely a military power, it may not be amiss to say a few words Geo. B. Rammers, Color Corporal, killed. in regard to the political situation; for, after all, this war is to be decided by the people. through the ballot-box, and so long as we althe Constitution of our country and to misrepcountry, have already said that they disapand usurping a power not given to him by the rebel lines. the Constitution, presumes to make laws under the plea of military necessity. Is this not, I ask, a startling fic? If we allow he Constitution to be violated in any one of the horrors of a modern vatican? One will say that Lincoln is an honest mar—but in God's name how has he proved his honesty? By placing an espicaage ever our yers and over our mails, by imprisoning American citizens without allowing them to be heard in their own vindication, by violating his oath to support and maintain the Constitution of his country against all enomies, foreign or domes-tic, by breaking his plighted faith with the border States, and lastly by usurping the powers of the governmen, both evil and mili-tary, for partisan purposes. If this is honesty, the decisionary lais to give the proper deno-tion of duplicity, enering and dishonesty.

The effect of the proclamation has been two fold—it has united the South and threatens to divide the North; and it proves to my mind that, whatever the purpose of the patriotic people may have been in entering into this war, that of the Administration was the abolition of slavery; and I now say to all the world that, if the worst comes to the worst, if a wicked Administration will persist in ruleing the country and force the issue on Kentucky, she will fight for the perpetuation of slavery sooner than for its abolition. If we have no Consti-tution, then we have nothing to fight for save our interests; and our interests are with the our interests; and our interests are with the Slave States. But on the other hand, if we have a Constitution, then let us preserve it; let Abraham Lincola be impeached and dismissed from an office no has disgraced; l-t the conservative people of the North stand with us. We are ready to give all we have, or ever may possess, to maintain the Constitution as it is, and to restore the Union as it was; but the chizens of Kentucky nion as it was; but the citizens of K are not willing to spend another cent, nor her soldiers willing to spill another drop of blood, until we know that we are not fighting for a party. I am aware that this is strong-lugoage; but shonger, figreer words than any I would utter are daily heard in our camps and in our councils, and the feeling is so deep that I fear a storm is brewing which no earthly power can stay. I trust not. I hope not. I have fought shoulder to shoulder with the gailant sons of the North, and, at this momen, I would give my life as freely, to aid in the restoration of the Union, as I would give water to a thirsty man; but I speak the truth when I say that we in Kentucky consider the terms Abolitionist and Sccessionist synonomous. A CONSTANT READER. THE ALABAMA.-The London Daily News oncludes an editorial on the case of the Alaoama in the following language:

The only thing to consider now is the course The only thing to consider now is the course the Government ought to pursue. Having sent down the order to detain the Alabama, the Government must admit that she was built and equipped in violation of the law. It remains for them to repair, as far as possible, the injury, and to prevent its recurrence. In cases such as this what is to be done? The Confederate Government has violated the sovereignty of this country by getting a man-of-war built in a British port. This is an offense against our national dignity. What is the remedy? Does it not entitle us to demand an apolegy and compensation? And what compensation can be more fit than the disarmament of the vessel, and the payment of such pensation can be more fit than the disarma-ment of the vessel, and the payment of such damages as may be required to satisfy the claims for the Federal and neutral property which has been destroyed? If these demands are justified by the laws of nations, it is our obvious duty to make them without delay.

A specal dispatch says letters from Illiquis state that the rebels are liberal in their offers to the West, of free navigation, free trade, and freedom from taxation, if she will join the South. The West, as yet, replies to this by sending thirty thou and of her choicest sons to open the navigation of the Mississippi by force of arms.

The members of Congress west of the Wabash declared yesterday and to-day that a ship canal between the great takes and the Mississippi is a political as well as a military necessity. The Times' Washington dispatch says the facts in regard to the rumored changes in the War Department seem to be these: Stanton, soon after his appointment, asked for two additional Assistants, to serve for one year, within which time he extected to put down the rebellion. The names of Watson and Lucker accordingly were sent is, and were appointed. Their term of effice expires about the 20th inst. It is understood Warson is not a candidate for reappointment. There is reason for belleving that Charles A. Dans, late of the Tribune, will be nominated to the position.

Times Suggests that they go to the [From the London Times, Dec. 12] * America is, however, so fond of asking the advice and accepting the counsels of us English that we will venture a sugges-tion as to how this difficulty in getting some one to attempt the conquest of Richmond may be overcome. At an early stage of European history a similar difficulty occurred. In those days the problem was how to get somebody to go forth in arms and recover the Hoiy Sepulchre. At first no one could be found. All sorts of mutual jealousies and financial difficulties interfered; and, moreover, there was then as now a deficiency of boats. But Peter the Hermit was a sincere man and a brave man as well as an elegent boats. But Peter the Hermit was a sincere man and a brave man, as well as an eloquent man. He scorned to preach a crusade which he was afraid to head. He led the which he was airsid to head. He led the vast multitude whom he had converted overland towards the object of his desires. Now if Mr. Beecher Stowe and Mr. Wendell Phillips would follow the example of Peter the Hermit, we think we see a way for them out of their present difficulties. If they would gather together under one banner all the crowds who go to hear and applied them. the crowds who go to near and call when they preach extermination and call for servile war and chide the sloth of military commanders, and if they would lead those multitudes themselves across the Potomac and head them in a rush upon Richmond, then we think we can see with cer-Richmond, then we think we can see with cer-tainty that something great would happen—something worthy of them, and their hu-manity as d their courage. Lacking, however, some testimony of zeel such as this, we are afraid we must wait, with whatever impatience, while the tedious game of war is being worked out by the slow technicalities of mili-tary art. It is much to be feared that tary art. It is much to be feared that unless the flery apostles of extermination go themselves to the front, whatever the Northern press may write, or the Northern pulpits may fulminate, Gen. Burnside and Gen. Lee will fight their battle at Fredericksburg when it shall please them, and how it shall please them, and there is nothing left to the American public but the old alternative of abusing and continuing the General in command, or in removing him and substi-tuting another, who will continue to stand still in his footsteps.

FROM MURFREESBO

The Anderson Cavalry-Majors Roser garten and Ward-The Mntineers and an Order from General Rosecrans.

Mr. Wm. W. Ward, of Pittsburg, arrived las evening from Murfreesboro, with e odies of his brother, Major Frank B. Ward of e Anderson Cavalry, and Colonel Ho son, fthe Seventy-seventh Pennsylvania In: atry. The bodies were forwarded last night y express and Mr. Ward himself left for Pittsburg From him we learn many items of interest to the public at large, and especially to the friends of the Andersons. Mr. Ward rode over the battle field, and having been at Autietam, is of the opinion that the battle of Stone river, or Murfreesboro, was much the fiercer of the two. In the charge seventy-nine were the principal mails close at 12:00 killed and wounded. Major Rosengarten had killed and wounded. Major Rosengarten had a hand-to-hand encounter with a reb-l after his sword was bent double. He received five shots, three of them in the head. Mojor Ward The LOUISVILLE DEMOCRAT OFFICE has been was shot through the lungs with an Eaglish established on the South side of Green street, musket ball, the shot cutting also the casing of the heart. He was removed to the house of one door from the Customhouse, on the square Dr. Manson, in Murfreesboro, who was a reb between Third and Fourth streets, in the build- el, but the Doctor and his wife both paid as much attention, were as kind and solicitous for Frank's recovery as if he had been their own son. Charlie Ward was in Murfreesboro Christmas night, but left before our forces arrived. Saturday and Sunday Gen. Rosecrans' sapply trains, three of them, numbering altogether about 1,200 wagons, arrived in Murfrees boro, and reinforcements were pouring in so rapidly that it was evident General Rosecrans intended to push on immediately.

In reference to the mutiny of a portion of the Anderson Cavalry, Mr. Ward learned that their complaints of not being properly officered were not true, though they may have believed them to be true: that Gen. Rosecrans himself had sent for commission the names of numbers of the old guard, who were well qualified for the positions for which he recommended them. The mutiny is greatly deplored by all-by none more than the friends of the Andersons Gen. Rosecrans issued the following field order in reference to this case:

DEPARTMENT OF THE CUMBERLAND. HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE OHIO. MURFREESBORO, TENN., Jap. 9, 1863. al Field Orders No. 6.

XVIII. The General commanding announces his high satisfaction with those brave and determined mea of the Anderson Guards, who promptly marched, under the gallant Majors, Rosengarten and Ward, to aid him in his advance on Murfreesboro. These young soldiers and their brave commander vied with our most veteran cavalry in their steadiness under fire, and the increpidity of their advance on the enemy, and nobly sustained the honor al-ready won by the Seventh Peansvivania cay-alry for the Keystone State. While he deplores the early death of brave young Rosengarten, the sorrow he feels at his loss is min-gled with a soldier's pride, to know that he fell like a hero, and for the sacred cause of

RIVER NEWS.

The river fell slowly yesterday, and at dark la ening, was about at a stand, with five feet ten inches water in the canal. Yesterday we had s nstant rain, which was mingled with sleet after dark last night, with a cold wind from the north est. As it is raining at Pittsburg and Nashville and all along the Ohio, and no doubt the Cumber and, we may look for full rivers, if not a flood. HOUSE. Mr. Stevens reported a joint resolution to rovide for the immediate payment of the ar ny and navy.

The joint resolution authorizes the Secretary of the Treasury, if required by the exigencies of the public service to issue, on the cred-t of the Unit d States, $5,000,000 United 8 ates notes, in such form as he may deem ex-pedient, bearing interest, payable on demand, denominations of not less than $1, which otes shall be a lawful and legal tender, like imilar notes heretofore authorized and re-civable in payment of all debts, both public and private, except duties on imports and the payment of the principal and interest on the public debt. The issue of notes herein pro-vided for must be deducted from the amount in any bill now pending, or which may nere after be passed by Congress.

Mr. Sievens said he had learned, both here and in the Senate, that the loan bill, providing ways and means for the support of the Go ernment, would not probably be passed within two weeks hence. This bill was introduced.

Mr. Lovej y suggested that the resolution be amended so as to provide for the issue of $1,000,000 c00 of United States notes. The amendment was arred to. The joint results are the state of the

[Extract from a Letter on the Battle Field.]

* * * * * * * *
This battle (Antietam) has been the most anguinary of the war, and the only one fought with visible design and upon military principles. The arrangement of our corps-the verlooking position of the commanding Gen eral-the sending into action the right and the I ft divisions-the closing up of the center, and final success-excites bewildering admiration, and carries the mind to the great fields of Austerlitz and Wagram, fought by Napoleop. Of all this have I spoken. The heart history of such a conflict, purchased by the life and blood of twenty thousand men, must be found in the hospitals. War has its glories-but it has its ten thousand demons in these human tortures, that make the eye-balls ache-the heart bleed-the lips palsy, and the brain reel. The sight is at first positively unendurable. The life-blood of some is still trickling away in silent calmness-while the dissevered limbs and maniae brain of others give rise to sounds

God grant I may not again witness. But ye mothers who here seek a son-or vives a husband-or sisters a brother-or sons a father-know and be consoled that even here the hand of mercy is watchful, and better care is bestowed upon your loved ones than might at first seem possible. It was in the hospital where rested the gallant Hooker, that I learned the history of those mythical words, so often seen and so little understood, "S. T .- 1860-X." Anything alleviating the sufferings and saving the lives of our soldiers, is a national blessing. I witnessed some astonishing results from this article.

It is well known the effect of burnt gunpowders and excitement is thirst, which, added to the loss of blood in the wounded, creates the necessity of a reviving stimulant In this particular hospital the physicians were allowing their patients to drink Plantation Bitters, otherwise called S. T .- 1860-X, and although the wounded are most numerous here-this division having opened the fight at 5 in the morning-the men were mostly composed, and there was very little fainting. The article acts upon the stomach and nerves in a most incomprehensible manner, superior to brandy, and without subsequent stupefying reaction. It originated in the West Indies, composed of the celebrated Calisaya Bark, Roots, Herbs, &c.; all preserved in St. Croix Rum-the S. T.-1860-X being a secret ingredient, not yet revealed to the public. It is principally recommended for want of appetite, disordered liver, intermittent fevers, tomachie difficulties, &c. I understand it was somewhat known in the Southern States previous to the war, and it appears an agent of Jefferson Davis recently applied to the proprietors for the privilege to make it for hospital purposes during the war, to which they made the following reply: New York, Jan. 16, 1862. -, Agent of, etc:

DEAR SIK: In reply to your communication offering us "Fifty thousand dollars for the repe and right to make the Plantation Bitters for your hospital purposes during the war," we beg to say your price is a liberal one, considering it would eest us nothing to comply, and that otherwise we can derive no revenue from the Southern States; but sir, our duties to our Government and our ideas of consist eacy would not allow us to entertain it, although it might please us to assuage the sufferings of your misguided followers.

We remain, Very respectfully yours, P. H. DRAKE, & Co. These gentlemen give the history of certain ngredients of their article for over two hundred years-showing that through all changes of the medical profession and its practitioners, strength, composure, and cheerfulness have been derived from these sources. Dr. Woods n the Washington hospitals informed me that one patient was fast sinking and crazy, and had not slept an hour for two weeks, until the Plantation Bitters came to his knowledge, when one day's trial gave him a night's rest, and he was now fast recovering. I am Jefferson Davis in energy, and adopted this invaluable article in all our hospitals. The weak soldiers cling to it like a brother. As

An icehouse can be easily and cheaply made in the corner of a cellar. By having the drain pass through the cellar and an opening near the top toward the cellar, the desired coolness is secured to this department, specially needed in winter as well as in summer, for the better preservation of fruits and vegetables. Many cellars are much too warm in winter. If kept as near to the freezing point as possible without freezing, fruits and vegetables can scarcely decay. On this principle, well known to all close observers of nature as well as to students of chemistry, a man in Michigan has lately devised a cellar for which he has taken out a patent. The patent can of course cover only his plan-not the principle.

Seasonable Directions for Mess Pork. The following standard rules, known as "Getty's Directions," are those given for putting up Prime Mess Pork, to meet the requirements of the English market. They are also adopted and made imperative in the contracts given out for Army Supplies by the United States Government:

QUALITY AND WEIGHT OF Pigs.—The pigs to weigh from one hundred to one hundred and sixty pounds each, and to be in good condition, strictly corn-fed or hard pork. For the United States army the weight may be extended to one hundred and seventy rounds.

PARTS EXCLUDED. -The head is to be excluded, also the fore leg up to the breast or brisket, the hind leg including the bock or gambrel joint, and the rump, if the hams are not cut up with the sides.

WHAT CONSTITUTES A BARREL OF PRIME What Constitutes a Barrel of Prime Mess.—A barrel of Prime Mess Pork consists of fitty pieces of four pounds each. If the hams are cut up and put in, there shall not be less than twenty-three side-pieces; if without hams, not less than thirty side-pieces.

How TO CUT AND CURE.—After the pig has been split through the back cut each side longer.

How to Cut and Cure.—After the pig has been split through the back, cut each side longitudinally into two strips; pack the strips into large casks or vats, and fill up with brine, having subspeter added at the rate of one ounce to three gallons of brine; leave the strips in the brine for eight or ten days to extract the blood, and for the lean meat to take a pink color.

When ready to be packed into barrels, have each strip carefully cleaned, using a knite and when ready to be packed into barrels, have each strip carefully cleaned, using a knife and brush if necessary; cut them into four-pound pieces as nearly as may be: Mess (select the pieces) as indicated, and pack neatly and compactly in layers, with sufficient salt to preserve BARRELS.-The barrel should be twenty eight inches long, and seventeen and a half inches over the end (when finished), made of seasoned white oak free from san, full bound with hickory or white oak hoops, and one iron hoop (one inch wide) on each end next below the chine hoop.

THEORY OF MESSING.-Pigs averaging say one hundred and forty five pounds will work up in messing about as follows: When the side, including the ham, is cut up there will be twenty-three or twenty-four pieces of sidemeat, eight pieces of ham and saddle, and eighteen or nineteen of shoulder and neck to the barrel; excluding the hams, the number of side-pieces will be increased to thirty one. of side-pieces will be increased to thirty-one or thirty-two. In no case should there be more than six pieces of the leg part of the shoulder put into a barrel.

How Corn is Made in Egypt (III.). The following plain, straight-forward ac- THAVE ON HAND A BEAUTIFUL ASSORTMENT count of the mode of cultivating corn in Southern Lilinois, from Wm. O. Marvin, of Randoiph county, will give a partial picture of farm-life there, and perhaps afford a hint or two. The plan described is doubtless susceptible of improvement. A brief description of the methods pursued in different sections, not only with corn but other crops, would be useful to others :]

not only with corn but other crops, would be useful to others:]

We prefer for Indian corn, wheat stubble unbroken until plowed for plunting in the spring: First, the cut worms trouble it very little; second, should the season be dry it bears the drouth much better than our other lands; and third, such land is most easily kept clean. The plowing should be at least eight inches deep, and all the growth of weeds and grass be turned to the bottom. After it is well broken, we lay it off one way in rows four feet apart, and five to six inches deep, with a one-horse plew. It is then crossed with the marker, making six rows to the round. Our children usually drop the seed. Some cover it by throwing ca one, and some two furrows with the stabil plow, and just before it is up, harrow it down level. Others cover with the harrow alone. Others cover by dragging a suitable flag stone across the rows, which is by no means a bad way, as we have no stones in our fields to interfere with culture. But we think the hoe is the best implement of all to cover with, and this is the only use we make of the hoe in producing the crop.

When the corn is up so that it can be worked, we remove the front tooth (or share) from a cultivator, and with a span of horses nun it astride the rows, first one way, and then across. This works the soil between the rows, and close up to the hills, in both directions, leaving it clean and in a condition little inferior to the best hoeing, and the hills are made around the corn. [This lets in the sam to warm the roots and prompte their growth.] The labor is not half that of hocing. The atter culture depends upon circumstances. If rains harden the surface, the plow may be required. After plowing, a one-horse cultivator is run between the rows to level off the surface, as we prefer flat culture to high ridging around the hills. By the above process we get in common vears, term forty to sixty. face, as we prefer flat culture to high ridging around, the hills. By the above process we get, in common years, from forty to sixty bushels per acre, according to the quality a ad condition of the soil.

German Economy.

German Economy.

Some of the most pleasant pictures of raval life in Europe are those drawn by Mr. Bowitt. Particularly in Germany does he find much to interest him. One thing which struck him quite forcibly, was the carefulness with which the country people save everything which can be turned to use. For instance, the roadside is not always set with forcest trees for shade and organization, but is planted with fruit trees, and these are protected and cultivated hardly less than those of the orchard and garden. Again, more pains a retaken than with as in saving and drying all kinds of fruit for domestic use and for sale in market. Cows are not generally pastered in summer, but are kept in sheds or small yards, where they are fed in various ways. Grass and clover, refuse fruits, vegetables and meal, etc., are carefully provided for this purpose. In some cases the women and children 1,0 ont want sickle and basket, to cut up and gather grass and weeds from the poadside; the boys go into the marshes and woods to gether tall grass and even to cut shrubbery, all for the useful cow. Yes, the useful cow; for not only is every drop of her milk saved and turned to account, but her other droppings are assiduously collected, and applied where most useful.

The tops of potatoes, refuse of hemp, and stalks of beaus serve as bedding for the cow:

most wieful.

The tops of potatoes, refuse of hemp, and stalks of beaus serve as bedding for the cow; and even the rough stalks of poppies, after the heads have been gathered for oil and seed, are converted into manure for the land. Children are often sent into the woods to collect heads to the hears of the page for out the land. children are often sent into the woods to col-lect baskets and bags of moss for cattle bed-ding, which afterward goes into manure. In autumn, the falling leaves by the roadside and everywhere are swept up and stacked for the same purpose. The cones of evergreens are gathered and dried for lighting fires. While the women are tending their poultry and their cows, the knitting needles keep constantly gains. In short, the German's seep to base cows, the kailting needles keep constantly going. In short, the Germans seem to have reduced the scriptural precept to systematic practice: "Gather up the fragments, that nothing be lost." And this same frugality and industry, we are glad to see, prevails widely among the Germans who have chosen this conducty for their home. With such habits of living joined with rights the see same its of living, joined with virtue, they are sure
